Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation

I. Volunteer Services

VA Medical Center (VAMC) & Community Based Outpatient Clinics (CBOC's), and other VA facilities.

Sons of The American Legion volunteers, with oversight by Sons of The American Legion VAVS certified representatives and deputies, fill a vital role in enabling facility and program administrators and staff to improve their efficiency, thereby insuring and increasing delivery of core services to Veterans. In addition, SONS Volunteers can supplement the quality of life and care of our Veterans while in VA care with their volunteer time, as well as communicate and advocate for VA and Veteran program needs and resources, throughout the Sons of The American Legions organization.

Goal: Have a VAVS representative in every VAMC by promoting aggressive recruitment throughout all Detachments; and insure that our existing Reps & Depts are certified and active and if not, get them re-certified and active again.

Tactics:

1. Encourage Detachment VA&R chairmen and local Commanders to develop strong working relationships with the Voluntary Service Manager in each medical center.
2. Promote participation and outline the responsibilities of the certified VAVS Representative and Deputy(s) in the VAVS system.
3. Promote special emphasis on methods of recruiting, retaining, motivating and recognizing volunteers from within the membership.
4. Promote Veteran-related activities that fulfill volunteer service requirements for high school students by offering them volunteer opportunities through the Sons of The American Legion. Assist VAVS Representatives and Deputies to work with VAVS Chief in creating a Youth Service Project for student volunteers.
5. Assist VAVS Representatives and Deputies to work with VAVS Managers in creating "Youth Services Projects" for student volunteers.

Best Practices: Set up Volunteer Recruitment tables at all activities and meetings participated in by the Sons of the American Legion.

Offer volunteer opportunities on Detachment and Squadron Websites, newsletters and other types of communication.

Encourage participation in community living center parties and special holiday activities.

Notes: To VAVS Representatives and deputies when you receive your confirmation of certification letter from the American Legion, you must contact the Voluntary Service Manager at your VAMC to schedule your training, background check, etc. or the V.A. Will not recognize you as a representative or deputy. After you receive your training and are accepted by the V.A. It is your job

(aided by reports generated by Voluntary Service) to keep track of your volunteers, schedule your annual joint review (AJR) with the V.A., and to attend mandatory VAVS/Community Council quarterly meetings. ALL members of the Sons of The American Legion who volunteer at a VA facility, or other individuals volunteering with members on behalf of the DONS, need to insure that their hours are recorded at the VA facility, and are recorded as being affiliated with the Sons of The American Legion

II. Support Military Troops

A. USO

Tactics:

1. Encourage promotion and donations to the USO.
2. Create partnerships with USO affiliates and assist with volunteer assistance and program initiatives.

Best Practice: Promote the USO facility in the local area and assist with donations and volunteerism needed at the facility. Involve local businesses and individuals in partnerships that can foster a long relationship of donations and volunteers for the program.

B. Squadron/Individual Support (phone cards, care packages...)

Goal: Provide squadrons and individuals information and activities to support active duty military.

Tactic:

Create partnerships between The American Legion Family to promote special events to support active duty troops.

Best Practice: Providing support to military personnel is a clear part of the mission of The American Legion Family. Sending phone cards to pastoral care at Landstuhl or care packages containing much needed items are always appreciated. Put official send off dates and Welcome Home dates in newsletters, websites and encourage everyone in your Legion Family to attend.

C. POW/MIA Issues

Goal: Support the initiatives of the National League of Families as they continue to speak out and exert maximum pressure on foreign governments to make a full accounting of America's POW/MIA's.

Tactics:

1. Promote observances of POW/MIA Day September 15, 2011 in local communities.
2. Draw attention to the draped chair at every Squadron, county, district and Detachment meeting.

Best Practices: Support programs designed to bring the POW/MIA issue to the attention of all citizens as to not let anyone forget the sacrifice they made for our country. Engage the local community to fully recognize POW/MIA Day with media coverage. Involve the entire American Legion Family to host an event on POW/MIA Day such as a breakfast with guest speakers and show the POW/MIA table ceremony.

D. Operation Comfort Warriors

Goal: Support the initiatives of The American Legion Program Operation Comfort Warriors to assist in the recovery of our nation's wounded heroes.

As U.S. military personnel are coming home where they join other recent veterans who have served, many of these servicemembers have left the battlefield only to be faced with a new fight: a struggle to overcome the mental and physical wounds suffered during deployment. Those with traumatic brain injury (TBI) or post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) are returning home in unprecedented numbers.

Even as the wars conclude, those in the military still face inherent dangers while fighting the global war on terrorism, during training exercises and while performing other dangerous duties.

While the care at many military hospitals and warrior transition units is extraordinary, The American Legion's Operation Comfort Warriors (OCW) program was created to provide "nonessentials" - items that help wounded warriors' recovery but don't usually show up as a budget line on government spreadsheets.

Tactics:

The Legion contacts officials at military hospitals, warrior transition units and surrounding communities, and obtains lists to determine which items are needed by wounded, injured or ill servicemembers. Once a need is identified, the items are ordered by the Legion and delivered in an expeditious manner. It's as simple as that. No red tape.

Best Practices:

Today, wounded warriors need a variety of items to help in their recovery. Some patients might need loose-fitting sweat suits to cover their healing wounds without adding pressure to burns. Others might need an iPod to help drown out the tinnitus that has plagued their ears since their vehicle struck an IED. Still others might need fitness equipment to rebuild strength in their muscles.

From gift cards to patients at Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, to electronics for Marines at Camp Pendleton, OCW represents the Legion's expression of gratitude. These gifts will not make our wounded warriors whole again, but they do express the Legion's gratitude.

The program relies on funds, which are used to purchase items for the servicemembers.

E. My Healthy Vet

My Healthy Vet is VA's award-winning e-health website, which offers Veterans, active duty soldiers, their dependents and caregivers anywhere, anytime Internet access to VA health care information and services. Launched nationwide in 2003, My Healthy Vet is a free, online Personal Health Record that empowers Veterans to become informed partners in their health care. III. Collaborative Program Efforts

A. National Veterans Assistance Day

Goal: Show respect for this grateful Nation's veterans and the role they have had in securing the freedoms we enjoy.

Tactics:

1. Promote May 19, 2012 (the third Saturday in May) as National Veterans Assistance Day in local communities at city hall, county court houses, State Capitols, schools and veterans facilities.
2. Encourage participation within your Post, Unit and Squadron with special events designed to honor these brave men and women.
3. Obtain the National Veterans Assistance Day poster from National and hang in Post home, nursing homes, other veterans halls. Publicize your events in the media, websites and newsletters.

Best Practices:

Seek out individuals needing help getting to appointments, getting groceries, yard work, simple home or car repairs, take them prepared meals, honor them on this special day in some small way. Involve the squadron in repairs or clean up around the Post or hold a special dinner or breakfast for these veterans. Visit VA nursing homes and local nursing homes and sit and talk with them. Publish thank you letters for service in the newspapers, websites and newsletters.

B. Fisher House

Goal: Provide volunteer resources and increase annual monetary donations.

Tactics:

1. Continue to financially support the Fisher House program through Detachment and Squadron donations.
2. Encourage Squadron members to volunteer at facilities in their areas.
3. Set up information display at Detachment, District and Squadron meetings to increase awareness of the mission and needs of Fisher House.

Best Practices:

Utilize the CD from Fisher House and the SONS Poster from the National web site to set up informational displays to increase awareness of the mission and needs of the Fisher House. In addition to money, squadrons can provide support to the families by furnishing gas cards, or gift cards to enable them to have some sense of individuality while living at the facility. Volunteer to baby sit, run errands, or work around the grounds putting up and taking down seasonal displays.

C. Veteran's Suicide Prevention/ Crisis Hotline

Goal: Spread information about veterans at risk for suicide and what action squadron members can take to help stop this tragedy.

Tactics:

1. Inform and promote awareness of the signs of veterans at high risk for suicide, and suicide hot line contact information.
2. Do whatever is possible and necessary to encourage Veterans to enroll in VA benefits and services. Of the approximately 22 Veterans that commit suicide each day, 16 are NOT enrolled in VA benefits and services!.

Best Practice:

Inform the local American Legion Family about the warning signs of a veteran at high risk for suicide and share the information with the community, friends and families of veterans. VA medical centers are required to have suicide hot lines and they need volunteers to help answer the phones, not as counselors but to help direct calls where they need to go.

IV. Support American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary Programs

A. Heroes to Hometown

Goal: Help disabled veterans coming home from VA medical centers integrate back into their communities and still receive the care they need to recover.

Tactics:

1. Increase awareness of this program and mission.
2. Encourage members of the American Legion Family to become “Buddies”

Best Practices

Hand out brochures to American Legion Family members and study the program and ways that you can help. Develop a plan so that when called upon you can smoothly swing into action on behalf of the veteran.

B. Homeless Veteran Initiatives

It has been determined that veterans become homeless and are at risk for homelessness for the same reasons as non-veterans, including due to the rising foreclosure and unemployment rates, as well as due to veteran specific issues.

The foreclosure rates in military communities increases at four times the national average. Mental health issues (e.g., PTSD, mood disorders and substance abuse) have been deemed among the primary risks for homelessness among veterans. Other issues have been determined to be: severe shortage of affordable housing, livable income and access to health care; drug and alcohol abuse problems; lack of adequate family and social support; high unemployment rate especially among those who joined post 9/11.

The effects of combat exposure do not disappear as the years go by. Recent studies reveal that 10% of Vietnam Veterans still suffer severe PTSD symptoms and that their combat exposure continues to place them at risk for negative social and psychological consequences.

Goal:

Work collaboratively with the VA Homeless Veterans Program, The American Legion, American Legion Auxiliary and the National Coalition of Homeless Veterans to encourage active participation in homeless veterans initiatives.

Tactics:

1. Work with the VA Homeless Veterans Program (HVP) Office to disseminate information related to Project CHALENG (Homeless Veterans Outreach).
2. Seek out and support Homeless Veterans Shelters.

Best Practices:

Adopt a Homeless Veteran’s Shelter in your community or send support to one in your Detachment. Support them with toiletry items, clothing, books and cleaning supplies.

C. Creative Arts Festival

Goal:

Promotes the annual competition that recognizes the progress and recovery made through recreation therapy, and raises the visibility of the creative achievements of our nation's veterans after disability or life crisis.

Tactics:

1. Encourage VAVS Representatives to publicize and promote getting volunteers for local events in their respective centers.
2. Publicize the time and place on the National Web page with a link to the Creative Arts Festival.
3. Increase Detachment contributions.

Best Practices:

Encourage Detachments to provide information to Squadrons requesting them to seek out information about local events and encourage them to sponsor participants on the local level.

Encourage Detachments to offer award incentives to Squadrons who contribute to The Creative Arts Festival.

D. Missing in America Project

Goal: to locate, identify and inter the unclaimed remains of American veterans.

Tactics:

1. Have squadron Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation Chairmen visit their local funeral homes for any unidentified remains.
2. Have local Squadrons help with the inter costs.
3. Provide links to Missing in America Project on Detachment Web pages.

Best Practices:

Encourage Detachments to provide information in newsletters, websites, or in committee meetings on Missing in America Project. Encourage members to visit their local funeral homes for remains and help to inter them with full military honors.

E. Honor Flight

Goal:

Helping every single veteran in America, willing and able of getting on a plane or a bus, visit THEIR memorials.

Priority:

Top priority is given to America's most senior heroes — survivors of World War II and any veteran with a terminal illness who wishes to visit THEIR memorials. The program will naturally transition to Korean War, Vietnam War and all other veterans who served, on a chronological basis.

Philosophy:

Since America felt it was important to build a memorial to the service and the ultimate sacrifice of her veterans, the Honor Flight Network believes it's equally important that they actually get to visit and experience THEIR memorials.

Veterans are taken on a first come first served basis unless a veteran from any era is terminally ill and they are put to the top of the list.

-The normal ratio is 8 veterans to 3 guardians

-The cost is free to the veteran unless they want to buy souvenirs, from Illinois it costs about $500 to send a veteran on an Honor Flight.

-Honor Flight Receives no government help all donations are from citizens, fraternal groups and corporations.

-South West Airlines has become the official commercial airline for Honor Flight

-Honor Flight Is in 30 states with 71 hubs

With a waiting list of over 8000 veterans; unless a spouse is also a veteran they cannot go on the flight.

Contact Honor Flight to find a hub near you: www.honorflight.org

F. State Veterans Homes

A State Veterans Home is a home approved by the U. S. Department of Veterans Affairs, which was established by a State for veterans disabled by age, disease, or otherwise who by reason of such disability are incapable of earning a living. There are now 147 homes nationwide in 50 states plus Puerto Rico. This gives more opportunities for volunteering.

Volunteers receive the same recognition and credit for hours as VAVS volunteers. The need for volunteers at state run veterans homes are the same as the needs that volunteers fill at our Veteran Administration Medical Centers and Community Based Outpatient Clinics.

V. VA&R Awards and Scholarships

My Life, My Story

My Life, My Story: Advancing the Veteran Experience

Veterans have compelling and deeply moving stories to tell — stories that may shed greater light on their overall health status. In addition to honoring their military service, these stories give voice to each Veteran's unique life experience, often yielding clinical information that might otherwise go undetected. By helping Veterans connect their stories with their VA health care providers and inpatient and primary care teams, My Life My Story supports more effective patient-centered care.

The program is part of VA's Diffusion of Excellence initiative, which discovers practices implemented locally at VA medical centers nationwide and determines the if they could be implement at other VA care locations. Among the practices identified are several cohorts of Gold Status Projects — the best of the best. My Life, My Story, was developed at the William S. Middleton Memorial Veterans Hospital in Madison, Wisconsin, and is "one of a dozen Gold Status projects currently diffusing across VA and having an impact on Veterans' care and experience," said Dr. Ryan Vega, Diffusion of Excellence lead. "VA is fortunate to have incredibly innovative and compassionate staff who are deeply committed to our Nation's Veterans. My Life, My Story is a perfect example of how we are continuing to advance the Veteran experience and solidify VA as the greatest health care system."

The program began in Madison's mental health service in 2013 with a grant written by Drs. Dean Krahn and Eileen Ahearn. Since then, the facility has completed 1,500 interviews and produced 1,000-word, first-person narratives for each one.

In this program, VA staff and trained VA volunteers conduct interviews with Veteran patients and write brief stories about the Veterans' lives. "The interviews are open-ended," says Ringler. "We have topics to touch on, but no set list of questions. Veterans are free to talk about what they want. I always begin interviews by saying, 'What do you want your care team to know about you as a person?'"

In addition to fostering a deeper relationship between a Veteran and his/her care team, sharing the stories can change a Veteran's treatment plan. Hypothetically, a mental health provider caring for a Veteran with depression may link the patient's condition to his or her military service. By reading the Veteran's story, however, the clinician may learn that the patient was also the primary caregiver for his or her parents, and that both had recently passed away. This information can change the way the care team looks at the sources of the Veteran's depression and may ultimately change their treatment plan.

According to Thor Ringler, a writer/editor at the Madison VA and the Gold Status Fellow for the practice, 16 VA facilities are now using My Life, My Story.

"The program touches a lot of different people, both within and outside VA," he explains. "Its heart is making connections between people and using stories to do so."

My Life, My Story was started to help VA health care providers better understand their patients and provide them with insights and information that might not otherwise manifest through single visits. If the Veteran chooses to participate in the program, their story becomes part of their medical record. Ringler soon learned that giving them copies of the finished product provided a way for Veterans to share their life stories with their friends and families.

In a recent Madison VA facility survey, the program drew an "overwhelmingly positive" response from VA providers as to whether reading these stories was a good use of clinical time and whether they would help improve clinical care. Some clinicians use the stories to establish rapport with their patients; others use them to help develop treatment plans.

Madison is actively diffusing the project throughout VHA. "Being selected as a Gold Status practice has been a big help in that," says Ringler. "We've received great support from different offices within VA. Our goal is to spread 'My Life, My Story' to any VA facility that would like to have it, and to support them in getting it up and running. We offer three two-day workshops a year here in Madison."

In 2018, the project was recommended for implementation nationwide by VA's Office of Veterans Experience.

Outside of the workshops, Ringler provides interested facilities with additional help. "We have training guides, videos and toolkits we make available. It's just a matter of finding a champion for the project."

"I believe stories are important," says Ringler, "and there's a need to make these stories available. As the program spreads, it tells Veterans and their families they matter to VA — and there's more to it than just their health."

VIII. Ways to improve Participation from our younger SAL members

Ways to Involve our Younger Members in VA & R Activities:

VAVS Summer Youth Volunteer Opportunities:

The summer is an exciting time in VAVS because it marks the beginning of many summer youth volunteer programs. Youth programs at VA medical centers can provide amazing opportunities for the volunteers, VAVS program managers, Veterans, and even existing VAVS volunteers. Having the chance to introduce America's youth to the rewarding experience of serving our Nation's Veterans is a great gift and one that we in VAVS celebrate.

Experiences will vary from one facility to the next, but youth can expect to benefit from a summer spent in service to Veterans in many ways. Not only will they get the opportunity to observe various career fields first hand through their volunteer assignments, youth volunteers will make new friends and gain skills in leadership, social interaction, problem solving, compassion, time management - many of the important qualities that employers will be seeking from this generation as they enter the workforce. Youth volunteers are also given the opportunity to apply for several scholarships through VAVS and Veterans Service Organizations.

The greatest reward that VAVS can offer to youth volunteers is the feeling that they have provided worthwhile, caring service to Veterans, and have made a difference in the lives of the men and women who served our country to protect and defend our freedom.

The American Legion Auxiliary Juniors Patch Program:

Junior members of the American Legion Auxiliary, as well as school-aged Sons of the American Legion members who often work alongside Juniors, may earn patches for activities in ALA programs, such as Poppy, Leadership, Americanism, Veterans Affairs & Rehabilitation, and more. Participating in the Patch Program is a terrific way to be involved in learning about the Auxiliary and our Legion Family, volunteering in the community, and serving our country's veterans.

Technology Mentor: (Ways to get our younger members aged 25 – 35, involved in our mission to help veterans!)

We've all said it. "Technology is the wave of the future." There's no denying that. It's actually the wave of the present. I know that every veteran today has heard that the need to use technology imperative now. If we are going to engage our veterans and members in the discussions of American Legion programs, we need to be doing this engagement with the technologies they are familiar with; or teach them the advantages of the use of modern technology.

Empowering our members as they guide Veterans and others with technology.

- Create a plan to introduce a veteran, or an American Legion family member to the internet.
- Determine two tools of internet usage that you use daily and explain those benefits to Veterans that don't use the internet.
- Show a veteran how to text message. Explain the advantages and disadvantages.
- Tutor a veteran in email use and safety. Help them create an email account, send/receive emails & how to attach a file/photos.
- Share your Facebook or other social network page with a veteran or an American Legion family member not familiar with social networking. Help create their own page & become "friends".
- Set up Wi-Fi in your Post home!
- Develop a Post, Unit and Squadron Website!

If we are to grow as an American Legion family we need to use the tools and technology that our younger veterans and their families are familiar with!
